James DiPaolo Chairman of the Board

As I look back on my first year as board chair, I would like to begin by expressing my gratitude to the HAI Group Board of Directors and to the membership for giving me this opportunity. I would also like to thank the Executive Management Team for making my transition a smooth one. I have enjoyed helping guide HAI Group this past year and hope the entire membership reaps the benefits of these efforts. Together, we have accomplished quite a lot in just one year!

The most significant achievement for the company was setting a new direction with the five-year strategic plan. The Executive Management Team listened to the goals and vision of the Board of Directors and developed a blueprint to achieve them. At the same time, the board secured a five-year contract for Ed Malaspina, our president and chief executive officer, to lead the company as it executes its new plan.

Part of our strategy includes focusing on the company's financials and AM Best rating. In 2018, we made significant strides in both areas. The company, which had suffered recent losses, returned to profitability in half the time we anticipated. This in itself is a huge accomplishment. Even better, AM Best recognized our efforts and improved our outlook from negative to stable. Neither achievement was expected to occur in 2018, but thanks to the hard work of the Executive Management Team and the employees, we can now celebrate them together. I'm grateful to our members for their loyalty during this time.

The final development in 2018 that I want to highlight was the creation of the Board Readiness Program, which was designed to ease new board members' transition from our various committees to the Board of Directors. I know my fellow board members will agree that the people who completed the program will bring a diverse set of skills to the company.

In 2019, I look forward to the continued improvement of the company's information technology systems, which will correlate to better customer service to our membership. I believe that there is always room for improvement. With the new five-year strategic plan in place, we are working toward new goals so that we can continue to fulfill the company's mission and vision. Together, we have charted the course for our future and I am eager to continue this journey with all of you.

Ed Malaspina

President and Chief Executive Officer

When I reflect back on 2018, I feel an immense sense of pride. The things that HAI Group accomplished in one calendar year were impressive. We turned our financials around, we improved our AM Best outlook, and we charted our course for the future. But most importantly, we remained supportive and dedicated to the public and affordable housing industry.

In architecture, there is a term, "keystone," which refers to the central stone at the summit of an arch that locks all the other stones into place. At HAI Group, we believe that housing is our keystone—the overarching, central piece on which everything we do depends. With our keystone in mind, in 2018 HAI Group developed a strategic plan that focuses on three themes: operational excellence, sustainable growth, and customer satisfaction. I believe, though, that the plan really reflects a single concept: supporting the industry as it continues to evolve.

To accomplish our goals, we're developing new products and services for organizations that are transitioning to affordable housing through programs like the Rental Assistance Demonstration (RAD), Moving to Work (MTW), and Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC). We're bolstering our presence in the affordable housing industry with insurance, new services, and original research, reaffirming our commitment to this important market. We're also continuing to promote a technology-based culture to further assist our members, and have implemented a platform that enables us to better protect member data, provide faster service, and launch new products more quickly than ever before.

Not only do we have the next five years mapped out for us, we also have the skilled team in place to achieve the goals set forth in the plan. We would not be where we are today without the dedication of our staff. They are committed to serving our members, as evidenced by our outstanding Net Promoter Score (a measure of customer loyalty), which is much higher than the industry average. They also reflect the value of service in their volunteer work on behalf of our community. This combination of service and values is truly remarkable—and it's contagious. I'm humbled by it, and I am proud, as chief executive officer, to nourish it by fostering a sense of trust, collaboration, and confidence that we will continue to succeed by focusing on the needs of our members and, just as important, our vital and dynamic industry—our keystone.

Housing Is Our Keystone

A keystone is the central stone at the summit of an arch. The final stone placed during construction, it locks all the other stones into position so that the arch can bear weight.

At HAI Group, housing is our keystone. It is the overarching, central piece on which everything we do depends.

More than 30 years ago, public housing authorities formed HAI Group to provide comprehensive, affordable insurance to the housing industry. Our members know better than most that access to safe, affordable housing is critical to the prosperity of our communities and vital to our nation's infrastructure. Our members see its effects every day; it's why they work so diligently to support their residents. It's also why we work so diligently to support them.

Preserving Affordable Housing

From the California wildfires to the government shutdown to changes in the corporate tax rate, 2018 was an eventful year for the housing industry. Through it all, HAI Group drew upon its financial strength and shared passion for preserving and protecting affordable housing to support our members as they navigated these obstacles.

While weathering the storms together, we also effected positive change.

Recognizing that innovation is as important to the future of housing as it is to any other industry, HAI Group sponsored landmark research about the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's (HUD) Moving to Work initiative. The study examined the performance of all agencies that participate in this innovative program, helping members better understand the transformation that is underway.

HAI Group also made its first foray into gamification, which uses techniques borrowed from video game design to engage audiences. Our interactive fire safety game, Beat the Blaze, was featured on the AMC Channel and viewed by more than 95 million households, who are now better educated on fire prevention and safety.

One of the initiatives that we're most proud of is our Resident Scholarship Program. This year, HAI Group awarded scholarships to 20 students who live in our members' public and affordable housing properties to help them continue their secondary education. This is our 16th year offering the program, which has awarded more than $1,150,000 in scholarships to 412 deserving students.

HAI Group Scholarship Winner Damon Pugh-Patterson,

Housing Authority of the City of Danbury, CT

Damon Pugh-Patterson is entering his senior year as a nursing student at Mount Saint Mary College (NY). He is just two years away from becoming a registered nurse. "Education is everything to me," Damon said. "It's the base to follow my dreams."

While Damon has demonstrated a strong work ethic in the classroom, he has also showed perseverance in his everyday life. "Coming from a low-income family can give you the mindset that some things, such as an education, are unattainable," Damon said. "[But] everyone deserves an opportunity to strive for success."

As a third-time recipient of HAI Group's Resident Scholarship, Damon's advice to others in his shoes is to be proactive and to take advantage of every available resource, no matter how small it may seem, or how unlikely you might think your odds are.

Because Damon took a chance and applied for HAI Group's scholarship program three years ago, he said, "I guarantee that I will soon be able to say that a nurse was created with HAI Group's help."

AM Best Company revised our outlook to stable and reaffirmed our financial strength rating of 'A' (Excellent). The global credit rating agency also featured HAI Group President and Chief Executive Officer Ed Malaspina in a webinar about running a successful captive.

Also worth noting is that HAI Group hosted the inaugural meeting of the newly formed MTW Association in Washington, D.C. We were delighted to work alongside prominent industry associations and the MTW delegation that is leading the charge for innovation in public housing.

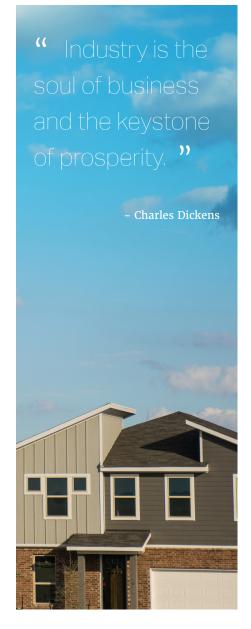

Planning for the Future

With consolidated financial results posting $14 million in net income, customer retention at 98 percent, and a customer satisfaction Net Promoter Score one point higher than our score last year and well above insurance industry averages —HAI Group ended the year strong. Looking forward, we know that sustaining the long-term viability of the company and enhancing our competitive advantage will continue to be determined by our ability to achieve three things: operational excellence, sustainable growth, and customer satisfaction.

To help ensure success, we funneled our initiatives through a new, five-year strategic plan that will help us prioritize our efforts and further strengthen our position in the affordable housing market.

English novelist Charles Dickens once said, "Industry is the soul of business and the keystone of prosperity."

At HAI Group, we believe that housing is the soul of our business and, more important, the keystone of prosperity in our communities.

HAI Group® is a marketing name used to refer to insurers, a producer, and related service providers affiliated through a common mission, management, and governance. Property-casualty insurance and related services are written or provided by Housing Authority Risk Retention Group, Inc.; Housing Authority Property Insurance, A Mutual Company, Housing Enterprise Insurance Company, Inc.; Housing Specialty Insurance Company, Inc.; Innovative Housing Insurance Company, Inc.; Housing Investment Group, Inc.; and Housing Insurance Services, Inc. (DBA Housing Insurance Agency Services, Inc. in NY and MI). Members of HAI Group provide commercial property and casualty insurance to affordable housing organizations, public housing authorities, and related entities. Not all products are available in all states. Coverage is subject to the terms of the policies actually issued. A risk retention group or surplus lines insurer may provide certain coverages. Risk retention groups and surplus lines insurers do not participate in state guaranty funds, and insureds are therefore not protected by such funds if insured by such entities.
